WHY HONG KONG?

City With A Soul

Hong Kong a place we call home is more than just a special administrative region of People's Republic of China. Hong Kong carries on in a set of core value that collate the foundation of all walks of life. The rule of law, basic rights, separation of power and the freedom of press are the qualities that outstand our city in Asia. Sparkles of this pearl of the orient is not by luck but hard work and legacy.

Asia World City

Hong Kong was widely recognized for its world-famous skylines and the hub for Asian creative industries. With the onset of a new society that connects and integrates in full vigor after 1997, ensued the historical name for Hong Kong as Asia's World City.

Asia Business Hub

The dynamic business culture is driven by unifying the enterprising Eastern roots and international influence from all across the globe. This very stable free market economy attracts the flow of goods and services overseas, making it a particularly multiethnic region of food culture. Serving Western food in the 1930s sped up the trend among the local communities only to seamlessly fuse with traditional culinary dishes at home. In a city of 7 million people, the smooth blending of local traditions intermixed with the incoming trends of immigrant cultures gives them a voice within the larger Chinese society.

OUR VISION

Despite the challenges and obstacles ahead in breaking through boundaries that are curbing global progress to peaceful negotiations and tolerance, Hong Kong's uniquely diverse history of tackling the pursuit to justice in the realms of gender, sexuality, race, and belief will help shake up the impacts as a result of the conference for the delegates to stimulate change in light of dynamic inclusion.

As one of the world's cosmopolitan cities, we strive to combine our forces to convene solutions ranging from international perspectives, and meet the goals of both the Hong Kong community and beyond. It's high time we redefine the spirit of the MUN starting from rescuing the very values of humanity to sustain the impacts of global voices.
